THE PENSACOLA CLASSICAL SCHOOL

OPINION OF EDUCATORS AS TO ITS WORK.

Prof. Walter Miller, professor of Greek in Tulane University, after visiting the Classical School, wrote the following unsolicited opinion to a friend and colleague:

"The Pensacola Classical School is doing a splendid work for the cause of southern education. It is established upon broad principles; it cherishes the highest ideals of scholarship; it maintains a high standard of excellence; and by the best modern methods and equipment it secures thoroughness of training comparable with that afforded by the great fitting schools of the east. To my mind the Pensacola Classical School is one of the very best secondary schools of the south."

Dr. Venable, president of the University of North Carolina, writes: "It gives me pleasure to testify to the thoroughness of the preparation of the students who have come from your school to the university. We should be glad to have more of the same type."

Dr. Geo. Petrie, professor of Latin and History in the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, writes: "I consider the Pensacola Classical School one of the best fitting schools in this section of the south. I can confidently endorse the thoroughness of its work and the healthy, manly atmosphere that pervades the institution."

FLORIDA AS A SUMMER RESORT

Northern Man Writes Enthusiastically to Home Paper of Land of Flowers.

IS GROWING WELL AND STRONG IN MAGNIFICENT CLIMATE—NORTHERN PEOPLE HAVE WRONG IMPRESSION REGARDING HEAT IN SUMMER.

Writing from Gainesville to the Charlotte (Mich.) Republican, W. W. Ashley, a well known Eaton Rapids newspaper man, who is spending the summer in Florida for his health, says:

"You perhaps have heard a great deal about Florida as a winter resort, but only a few have ever thought it a place for pleasure in the summer on account of the heat which the majority of the people in the north think unbearable. The doctors here have advised me every spring I have made up my mind to go north that it would be best for me to remain here during the summer. If I wished to get relief from the bronchial trouble that brought me here, so I thought this spring I would try it. I must say that I am better than I have been for years, and have gained in flesh since the warm weather of summer set in."

"Now about the weather. In May we had it very warm this year, and it made me perspire quite freely, yet I felt good and kept at my work, not feeling in the least debilitated from the heat. It was up to 90 in the shade some days, and never below 75 or 80 at any time. You could put on light-weight clothing and keep it on all day, and in fact, all the week. The first of June we began to have our rainy season. I thought that would be something terrible, as I had heard it talked so much. But the facts are the rainy season is indeed pleasant. It seldom rains only in the afternoon, and then not more than two hours, and this has been an unusual wet one for this country. The rays of the sun will become very hot and in a little while the clouds will appear and the cooling rain descends. This will be followed by one of the most cooling winds you ever enjoyed."

"This city has a abundance of fine shade trees, and no matter how hot it is, you can always find a breeze in the shade of these grand live oaks. This may seem a little exaggerated, but you can ask anyone who has ever tried it and they will tell you the same thing. There is no doubting the fact that this is a great climate for people with lung or bronchial troubles, and they can come here and live for years, when they might die much sooner if they remained in the cold climate of the north. But I think that if a person comes here and gets relief, that it is hazardous for them

CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR.

Dandruff, Which is a Germ Disease—Kill the Germ.

Falling hair is caused by dandruff, which is a germ disease. The germ in burrowing into the root of the hair, where it destroys the vitality of the hair, causing the hair to fall out, digs up the cuticle in little scales, called dandruff or scurf. You can't stop the falling hair without curing the dandruff, and you can't cure the dandruff without killing the dandruff germ. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect. Newbro's Herpicide is the only hair preparation that kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide is also a delightful hair dressing. Sold by W. A. D'Alemberte, druggist and apothecary, 121 S. Palafox street, Pensacola, Fla. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

AN EVARTS FEE.

Showing How It May Sometimes Pay to Be a Poor Writer.

Not many lawyers write legibly, and the late William M. Everts wrote such an execrable hand that it was very often difficult to read it. This caused a mistake at one time which resulted in the eminent lawyer receiving a retainer for ten times the amount he requested. The late William Allen Butler, an eminent member of the New York bar, was counsel for one of the legatees in the celebrated Stokes will case years ago, in which the late Dr. Henry P. Stearns was one of the expert witnesses. Something like $15,000,000 was involved, and Mr. Butler told his client that he would like an associate in the conduct of the case. He was asked whom he would suggest, and he said he thought Mr. Everts would be the best man owing to his superior knowledge of the law and his great reputation as an advocate. The client agreed, and Mr. Butler was instructed to see if Mr. Everts would come into the case.

Accordingly Mr. Butler wrote to Mr. Everts and invited him to be associated in the case and name his retainer fee. In due time he received a reply, which he saw at a glance was in the affirmative and, without stopping to read it further, slipped it into another envelope and mailed it to his client. In a day or two he received a call from Mr. Everts, who inquired what sort of a man his brother lawyer's client was.

"Didn't you hear from him after I sent your letter to him?" queried Mr. Butler.

"Yes," replied Mr. Everts, "but he sent me a check for $25,000, and I only asked him for $2,500."

It was apparent that Mr. Everts' chirography misled the client. This is the story as told by a lawyer who was familiar with the facts, but it is not known whether Mr. Everts returned the difference of $22,500 or whether he worked it out.—Hartford Courant.

THE KALLIMA BUTTERFLY.

An Insect That Perfectly Imitates a Dead Tree Leaf.

A moth usually rests with its fore wings outspread over the prominent pattern of his hind wings, says Waldemar B. Kaempfert in the Booklovers Magazine. In any other posture he would inevitably meet a swift death. A butterfly, on the contrary, rests usually with his wings uplifted and pressed together. Otherwise, the gaudy upper surface would be as conspicuous as the black ink on this white paper—a signal for attack by relentless and voracious foes. In order to hide himself the butterfly has, therefore, lavished all the resources of his imitative art on the under surface of his wings. By far the most astonishing instance of this kind is afforded by the East Indian Kallima butterfly, the blue upper surface of which is richly and ostentatiously adorned with a stripe of orange, but the under surface of which bears a truly staggering likeness to a leaf, when the wings are drawn together. Here we have an insect that does not merely the approximate shape and color of a dead leaf, but also the midrib with the delicate veining, the sharp point, and the short stem common to many tropical leaves.

It might be supposed that this imitation of an ordinary object is sufficiently minute to protect the Kallima from its enemies. Self preservation apparently demands not merely a dead leaf simulated, but in touches even more exquisite, for the resemblance has been so craftily carried out that the lighter colored varieties, a dead, shriveled leaf flecked with parasitic growths, stained and spotted to give the appearance of holes eaten by caterpillars.
